In the erection and equipment of an institution of such importance as the new Montreal Jewish Hospital, the highest standards of sanitary convenience and reliability were naturally of prime consideration. Heating and plumbing equipment of the most efficient type were essential, valves and fittings had to be of the most advanced design. The choice of Crane Equipment was another example of the high esteem in which this line of sanitary fittings are held among physicians, surgeons, architects and contractors and all whose experience in the doctoring of the sick has enabled them to judge the exact requirements of a modern hospital.

DISARMAMENT OR DEATH

Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath

During the next few months our entire Western civilization will hang precariously in the balance. As the delegates from the wide world over gather at Geneva on Tuesday next, they will hold in their keeping the future destiny of the human race. Upon the satisfactory adjustment of our present mad competition in armaments depend the peace and salvation of all mankind. Should the Disarmament Conference fail, all hope of international amity will be shattered to pieces, and a grim and most dangerous spirit of disillusionment and despair will descend upon us all. The victor nations will have broken their plighted word solemnly pledged at Versailles to disarm, and rancour and hatred will arise within the hearts of the conquered.

Such a defeat of all our fondest hopes would be to play into the hands of Herr Hitler, and Hitlerism in Germany spells even more militant nationalism in France, and then — perhaps not immediately after the close of the Conference, but inevitably none the less such failure at Geneva in this year, 1932, will mean the whole satanic struggle over again, — only a scale more savage and devastating that man has ever known before. Even more conservative thinkers, such as Principal Fyfe of Queen's University and Sir Arthur Currie of McGill, solemnly warn that any future fray will bring with it instruments of destruction so ruthless and inhuman as will wipe out the whole of humankind.

Will the delegates to the Disarmament Conference have sufficient vision to recognize the sanctity, the universal importance of their task? Will they be humane enough to spare their fellow creature, perhaps their own children this harrowing possibility? Will they be courageous enough to face bravely the issue, and actually disarm? God grant that in their wisdom and fortitude they may bring some surcease to a world in pain; some healing to a humanity sick unto death of war and threat of war. May they be imbued with that passionate longing for peace which alone can rescue us from the doom which seems so imminent and near, and may they save us. Such is our prayer and most fervent hope on the eve of this most vital world conference that perhaps has ever been held in the annals of the human race.

SERMONS IN STONES

Excerpts, printed by popular request, from Rabbi Eisendrath's radio address over Station CFRB on Sunday evening, January 17th.)

But all things must have an end. And so as I mused among these portentious slabs, I thought likewise of that welcome, that happy, that heavenly day of release which came at last with the great enlightenment; when ghetto walls were shattered and when a nation after nation civil liberties were restored to the Jew. What joyous days were those, and how ecstatically did this persecuted people hail the emancipation that followed in its wake. Then it was that some of our noblest spirits laid the pleasing unction to their souls that this insidious malady of anti-Jewish hatred was at an end, and that the Promised Land of all brotherhood was at hand. To be sure, there were still lands of darkness: Dreyfus had been unjustly sentenced to those torturous years on Devil's Island; helpless and innocent souls were still being ground beneath the heels of heartless Cossacks; pogroms and persecutions did not cease at once. But the breath of sympathy and understanding was abroad; education and enlightenment increased, and hope rose eternal within this people's breast. And then the War — the War for Democracy, the war to make the world safe for every minority, no matter how hated or despised; what visions of the future, what dreams of humanity, regenerate and reborn.

But what a crushing blow — its disillusioning aftermath, as from nigh unto every country, even to this hour, come tragic tales that seem to remind one of those darkened and dismal days which those sombre stones in Prague were once made to witness. In these highly civilized and nominally 'Christian' lands, prating to the world that pillage and pogroms have ceased, there is still being enacted throughout almost the whole of Europe, yet another ghastly scene in that centuried tragedy; a bloodless persecution such as few people upon this earth have ever endured. Gradually they are being eliminated from middle class occupations, and at the same time they are denied the rights of artisans. State co-operatives relentlessly drive out the small shopkeepers, and government monopolies eject workers from factories and mills where they have labored for generations; the scene is indeed too horrible to contemplate!

What madness is this that thus perpetuates the vilest and most bestial passions of mankind! What tragedy, what bitter irony that thus rewards the people from whose loins sprang the One who is so largely regarded as the very "Saviour" of this Western World, from whose ancient lore came the tender teaching of the early Nazarene. It is difficult for true Britishers to understand, for in the land of Britain, at any rate the Jew was ever truly regarded as a human being. In Britain, at least since the doughty Cromwell espoused his cause and struggled for his readmission into that "gem-like isle set in a silver sea," the Jew has been at home; and now noble Old Britain, rewarded for her sweet humanity, is in her most straightened circumstances and trying times, two of her most trusted sons, Reading and Samuel, help to steer her bark through the troubled waters of to-day.

Truly did the ancient poet write: "I will bless them that bless thee, and curse them that curse thee, I will curse; and those that bless thee, them shall I bless." Blessed, blessed, then, is this warm hearted people to whom the foul word of anti-semitism is utterly repugnant. How we pray that all other lands this depth of understanding, this breadth of spirit, this exalted vision which characterizes the true son of Britain, and away with the ignorant that not infrequently, even in our own midst, echo the cries of some petty landlord, for example, or some bigotted politician that the traditions of their mother country are so woefully scorned. God grant that our land be not tainted by this most heinous crime, this most blasphemous sin against the living words of the holy Nazarene, and that the spirit which is truly and distinctly British might spread to every blessing throughout the earth, bringing peace and blessing to those among us that humble few who died that men might live and learn together as brethren faithful and true, the highest ideal of the human mind at life. Such is the message, such is the sermon which those silent stones in far away Prague would preach to this our sad distraught world. May it please our common Father that it be soon heeded and among all people heard and heeded.

"Sometimes when people censure me,
I tell them without rancor,
That for what it cost me to be free,
I might have had an anchor."

Unity prevails in the ranks of the Canadian Zionists, or so they say, after the healing application of the twenty-third annual convention which closed on a note of purchased peace. Perhaps, after all, the important thing about the convention was that it did close. Had it dragged on much longer statistics would have been able to show a new high death rate from a boredom that was almost unbelievable in its killing power. All those who were unable to attend the convention have the assurance of this column, for whatever it is worth, that providence was kind to them and they missed nothing. A photograph of Rabbi H. Abramowitz, of Montreal, reading a daily newspaper during the address of a certain orator would bear out this statement completely.

The best things about the convention were the brilliant address of Dr. Nahum Goldman, of Berlin, given in Yiddish; and the beautiful, spirited report of A. M. Klein of Montreal, poet and Educational Director of Young Judaea. Most of the other speeches were mediocre or dull as ditch water and full of the ancient, stereotyped twaddle about the scenery of Eretz Yisroel that press bureaus used to send out.

In showmanship this convention compared to an American convention in about the same way that Andy Gump would compare with Apollo and any one who came to Montreal for the sole purpose of attending the convention has a moral right to ask for a cash refund for meals and railroad fare. If it is true, as Zionists maintain, that people arrive from the provinces starved for an inspiring word, then the negligence in failing to provide a first rate program for them is all the more inexcusable.

A striking aspect of the convention was the marked absence of brisk, representative young people about twenty-five or thirty years of age, enthusiastic Zionists without personal axes to grind, but with a consuming interest in the upbuilding of Palestine. A purpose of the Young Judaea organization is to train young people to be leaders in Zion so that when they arrive at an age of responsibility they will be actively concerned with the affairs of the Zionist Organization and of Palestine out of love for the cause. What happens is that Young Judaeans are active and interested as Young Judaeans but become disillusioned later with their tiresome elders in the Zionist movement and stay away or keep silent. Thus a vicious circle is established. The young people become indifferent because there is no element able to neutralize the actions of the old hands at petty politics and the old hands continue at it because there is no new element strong enough to dissuade them. In time the elders should be able to ascend the platform and descend from the platform with no audience at all to disturb their calisthenics.

An illustration of the kind of mean display which ought to sicken any fair-minded person, let alone the idealist, was afforded in the convention session Sunday afternoon when members of the Ontario Region got out their knives and began to sharpen them under the nose of Rabbi Zlotnik, the Executive Director. Whether or not he deserved to be removed is beside the point that a Roman holiday has a brutalizing effect on those who participate as celebraters or as spectators and as a pastime is dangerous to the soul and reputation of an organization. On Monday the Ontario Region speakers were insistent, with a clumsy and flat attempt at suavity, that Rabbi Zlotnik's integrity was beyond reproach but that his system of directing was very, very bad, indeed.

They came to Montreal well-organized, by whatever means, and in contrast made the Montrealers look to the naked eye like a befuddled group without forethought, leadership, purpose or plan. The memoranda which they submitted as the salvation of the Zionist Organization of Canada may or may not become effective. But they bore home with them the head of Rabbi Zlotnik on a silver platter. That was the price of peace and unity. They went away in the flush which may have been synthetic of a personal victory which may prove to be hollow. If it was a victory it was of dubious quality and is apt to appear more like a ruinous mistake when recollected in tranquillity some other day. At any rate, it is certain to repell and not to attract those who remain aloof from Zionist endeavour. No amount of educational propaganda can wipe away its vulgarity and sordidness. Only time and the tide can do that.

Palestine Above Zionism!

The twenty-third Canadian Zionist Convention is now history. It was a stimulating convention. "The excitement" was provided by the "Toronto heretics." And we are glad that "heresy" has at last penetrated into Canadian Zionism. Heresy makes for progress! It is the leaven in the life of thought! Thus Mr. Meyer Weisgal, the chief heretic and his Toronto delegates are to be credited with what ever "reforms" there will ever be instituted within the next year in the Canadian Zionist ranks. For too long have Canadian Zionists been self-hypnotized. They boasted of having "peace" within the ranks — but it was for the most part the peace characteristic of people who are unreflective. The Toronto heresy we believe has enriched the mental menu of Canadian Zionism.

During the convention one little word loomed large — "unity." But the trouble was too often the men who used the term unity meant "uniformity"—and there is the rub! Unity implies variety of opinion —yea—"criticism!" And leaders in Canadian Zionism have never as yet learned to take "criticism" and to practice "self-criticism." That is why so much provincialism and pettiness seem to enter in the discussions of all Zionist problems. The sacredness of personality is even forgotten and men, devoted Zionists holding prominent offices, are often maligned and clothed in the garments of villains — And it does not take much for the mass to be driven into an opinion that "so and so" is a scoundrel.

But the end of the convention "cleared" the atmosphere. Erstwhile imaginary enemies are now friends! And we are happy for it all! For remember we must, what ever be our Zionist differences and interpretations — above even Zionism stands Palestine. Let us all quibble less about our Zionist ideologies and work with greater devotion for the rehabilitation of Eretz Yisrael.

From "The Christian Century"

We cull the following tribute in memory of Julius Rosenwald from "The Christian Century." We hope Christians of wealth will learn something of the generosity of a Jew by taking to heart the following paragraph:

"Mr. Rosenwald was a Jew, but there was nothing sectarian in his giving. He supported Protestant, Catholic and Jewish enterprises. He is perhaps best known for his large gifts to Negro education and philanthropy. But how many know that he contributed liberally to the defense of Sacco and Vanzetti, and Mooney and Billings, and to the support of a variety of somewhat obscure enterprises which he investigated and approved? An interesting illustration of his personal attention to his gifts came to my own desk. I am responsible for the direction of certain extension lectures in religion given each quarter for the people of the churches in the divinity school of the University of Chicago. A few years ago Dean Matthews was announced to give a course of lectures on "Christ Through the Centuries," and I received a letter from Mr. Rosenwald's secretary saying that Mr. Rosenwald had seen the announcement, and it had occurred to him that a good many young people in the churches might be benefited by the lectures but would be prevented from attending through inability to pay the registration fee. Mr. Rosenwald, therefore, would be happy to pay the fees for from 50 to 100 such young people. A Jew volunteering to pay the fees for Protestant young people to hear lectures on Christ! There was catholicity of spirit."

The Disarmament Conference

The most important international gathering since "the peace conference" of twelve years ago will convene in Geneva next Tuesday. The question of the reduction and limitation of armaments will be debated. It is a most serious question. A start must be made there to rid the world of competitive militarism — otherwise there is no hope for

THE MONTREAL JEWISH HOSPITAL

For a number of years the Jewish Community felt and appreciated the necessity for a Jewish Hospital, and both in the press and at public meetings the attention of the Community was called to the acute shortage of hospital accommodation in Montreal. Prompted by the desire to contribute its share in relieving the inadequacy of Hospital accommodation, and by the discontinuation of the services previously rendered by the Montreal Hebrew Maternity Hospital on account of the delapidated condition of the building, organized relief became effective on May 27th, 1929, at a meeting of representative Jewish citizens held at the Young Judea Branch Institute.

Under the chairmanship of Mr. Max Bookman, a temporary committee was formed to report and draw up a campaign to secure adequate Hospital facilities for the Jewish people of Montreal. The outcome of this meeting was the appointment of an Executive Committee entrusted to proceed with the organization of a campaign. Within a week the necessary machinery of the Campaign were under way; the directing officers appointed, and the strenuous work of organizing the great army of workers necessary was begun.

The original objective of the Campaign was fixed at $600,000, the sum which was to erect and equip a Hospital of 150 beds and under the joint Chairmanship of Mr. Michael Hirsch and Mr. Allan Bronfman, the opening rally of the Campaign held on September 22nd found a huge organization of 1500 men and 1100 women ready to start on canvassing Montreal Jewry.

With the co-operation and sympathy of the press of Montreal and of the citizens, the Campaign organization was so confident of success that the original objective of $600,000.00 was increased to $1,000,000 before the Campaign was launched. With the slogan "Our Debate Everlasting" ever on their lips and in their hearts, the devoted army of earnest and self-sacrificing workers received the substantial support of the Jewish Community. The response to the appeal far exceeded the most sanguine expectations, and at the conclusion of the Campaign the objective of $1,000,000 was exceeded by $590,438.90 — an achievement of which Montreal Jewry may well be proud. The undertaking received the sympathetic interest and encouragement of the Provincial and Municipal Governments, the former contributing $400,000.00 and the latter $50,000.00.

With its objective attained, the task of preparing plans and specifications for the building of the Hospital was entrusted to Messrs. J. C. M. Dougall and C. D. Goodman, architects of Montreal, with Dr. S. S. Goldwater of New York acting as consultant.

After almost a year of careful consideration of plans and ideas which involved the preparation of five sets of blue prints for the Site and Building Committee, the plans were finally approved for a 200-bed hospital to be built on the selected site on Côte des Neiges Road comprising 11½ million square feet of land, away from the grime and bustle of the business section of the City. Tenders were then called for and the contract awarded to J. Gillett and Company.

On August 4, 1931, Lord Hewborough the Governor General of Canada turned the first sod in the presence of a large and interested assemblage of workers and subscribers whose earnest efforts and generous sacrifice had made this great work of mercy possible.

Through the continuous and unflagging efforts of the Site and Building Committee headed by Mr. A. M. Vineberg as Chairman, and with the co-operation of the contractors, the outside construction of the building was completed, the glazing done and the interior finishing well under way by December 18th. The boilers and oil tanks were installed and it was hoped to be able to heat the building early in February so that the plasterers could proceed with the work.

It is expected that this much needed addition to Montreal's hospital facilities will be ready for occupation in October 1932, and will afford the necessary care to our sick and helpless people with due observance of our dietary laws.

The annual meeting of Montefiore Hebrew Orphans Home takes place Sunday, January 31st, at 2 p.m. at the Home, 1600 Jeanne Mance St. In the past year the Home has cut expenses and reduced its mortgage of $11,500 to $10,000, thus saving the sum of $500.00 in interest charges alone. The Home managed to clear off every outstanding account, according to officials. Alderman Max Seigel is President.

Quebec—

A Land of Beauty and Variety

The ideal country for a most enjoyable and pleasant holiday.

The air is sweet and perfumed with the balsamic emanations wafted from its immense forests of maple, pine, balsam, cedar and spruce. The days are hot but tempered by the tender breezes that drift from the great St. Lawrence River.

The rivers of Quebec are known for the great variety and abundance of their game. Moose, caribou, deer, bear and small fur-bearing animals, and birds of many species are found in its woods which constitute sportsmen's paradise. In addition its lakes and streams swarm with trout, salmon, pickerel, muskallonge, ouananiche, bass, smelts and many other denizens of the finny tribe, and the fisherman is always certain of an excellent catch.

To help the visitor to this Province, as well as the tourist, organize the most pleasant excursions through all parts of Quebec, the Roads Department will send free, upon application, a copy of its Highway and Tourist Map, illustrated booklets, and all additional information that may be required.

Along Quebec Highways

A complete 880 page guide-book, descriptive of all the beauties along the roads throughout the Province and containing much valuable information about every important locality. Photographic reproductions of marvellous scenery in rural districts. Price $2.00, post-paid, if purchased direct from the Department.

The Gaspe Peninsula

A 260 page guide-book devoted exclusively to the description of that land of wonders, Gaspesia. Scores of illustrations and special drawings, take the traveller practically step by step through the fascinating landscape of the Peninsula, describing every locality, the life of its people and their history, and in addition contains a number of legends and weird tales that help make it most readable and interesting. It is necessary "vade-mecum" of the tourist who intends to visit the "Wonderland of Quebec." Nominal price $0.60, post-paid if purchased direct from the Department.

Zionist Convention Re-Elects Officers

The twenty-third annual convention of the Zionist Organization of Canada re-elected A. J. Freiman of Ottawa as president; Lyon Cohen of Montreal, A. A. Levine, Toronto, M. Dunkelman, K.C., Winnipeg, and A. J. Rabinovitch, Montreal, as honorary vice-presidents; Louis Fine, Montreal, vice-president of the eastern division; H. Lefkovitch, Toronto, vice-president of the central division; J. H. Sissenwine, Winnipeg, vice-president of the western division; Max Kaufman was chosen as treasurer of the organization.

Seven of fifteen executive members of Eastern Canada and eleven of twenty-four Western members were re-elected. It was resolved that the convention recognize the need of organizing and reforming the administrative and educational work of Canadian Zionism; that it record as a basis for consideration of the reconstituted National Council the necessity of unanimity of the Zionist Bodies on the recommendation presented by representatives of the western Provinces empowering the National Council to take such step as may be deemed necessary to secure unanimity, also to express sympathy with the Zionist organizations and meeting of Zionists in all parts of the world, and the duty of the Canadian Zionists to assist in the rehabilitation of Palestine.

It was decided that the Zionist organization urge its affiliated societies to encourage Hebrew as the tongue of communication and instruction in Jewish schools, Talmud Torahs and Jewish Sunday schools, and to take active steps to secure the introduction of Hebrew as a subject of instruction in the public schools.

It was resolved that the Zionist organization urge its affiliated societies to encourage Jewish agricultural settlements in Canada, the Jewish Territorial and Jewish Labour Battalion, and to take active steps to secure the introduction of Hebrew as a subject of instruction in the public schools.

Dr. Sokolow felt too, that there are not very many "truly displaced Arabs in Palestine." Land was purchased from tenants, half tenants and owners, with whom proper settlement and arrangements were made. "But all this," he declared, "is another question and has been settled before. We have never prevented the British Government and never discouraged the British Government from helping the Arabs — we always defended that attitude and still do.

"The land development scheme which has been the ground for so much controversy, has been settled and accepted in Palestine. Half of the money will be given to the Jews in five years and the other half to the Arabs. It has been accepted by the British Cabinet, but they have been unable to carry it through at present. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald told me that owing to the financial conditions of the world and of England, it was impossible at the present time to go through with the plan.

"But he also assured me that it will go through when the financial position of the country has improved."

Dr. Sokolow said further that if the "little statistical mission" of Mr. French has proved to be as partial as appears, and if the report to be made includes a great number of Arabs who were never displaced and who do not deserve assistance — "we will have the report examined and a protest lodged." He pointed out that the Zionist organization had sufficient material to support any of its statements.

"I am a man of the Bible," he claimed, "and my Zionism is a Biblical Zionism, and I can safely say that the Jewish National Home is here and no power can move it." Dr. Sokolow promised that the Zionist organization wouldn't bring more people into Palestine than the country could satisfactorily absorb. He issued the following statement at the conclusion of the opening session:

"With regard to the rumour in the press concerning anti-Jewish measures in Palestine proposed by Mr. French in his report. The Jewish Agency has no knowledge of any such proposals and does not attach any importance to them, which would be in contradiction to Great Britain's obligations in letter and in spirit which have been internationally conferred in the Palestinian Mandate.

"These rumors refer to a report given by Mr. French who was delegated to make an inquiry on the number of the displaced Arabs in connection with the development scheme which is to be discussed at the proper time between the British Government and — as far as we are concerned — the Jewish Agency. Mr. French's statistical results on the question, will have to be carefully examined as material in connection with the development scheme, in conformity with the legitimate interests of the Jewish National Home and the welfare of the Arab population. Suggestions against Jewish immigration if really made by individuals would not only meet with the strongest and unconditional opposition on the part of the Jewish Agency and World's Jewry, but would not, in the opinion of Mr. Sokolow, enter into any consideration of the British Government in its deliberations on the development scheme.

"Mr. Sokolow said that the Colonial Secretary's declaration recently cabled to the United States Zionist on the occasion of the reception meeting of January as the only authentic expression of the Government's program which evidently makes such suggestions unthinkable. It is to be regretted that at a time when the Jewish Agency is co-operating with the British Government and making all efforts to renew and to strengthen the confidence in Great Britain for the success of the Jewish National Home the importance of which has just been emphasized by the Colonial Secretary such suggestions should have been made or if not made — such rumours put into circulation.

Rabbi J. L. Zlotnik, executive director of the Zionist Organization of Canada, presented a general review of activities since the last meeting of the Canadian body two years ago. He stressed that despite the seriousness of the situation financially, the work of Zionism and the foundation of a Jewish National Home had been unshaken.

Rabbi Zlotnik said that in the past two years some $318,000 had been collected — "an achievement that can be looked upon with satisfaction." Tribute was paid to the women's section, the Hadassah, which had been responsible for nearly half the income of the Zionist movement.

The executive director recommended that in addition to the regular campaign for the United Palestine Appeal in the spring, Zionists should organize a systematic drive for the purchase of 5,000 dunams of land. He also urged the convention to influence Canadian Jews to continue their support and interest in the Palestine work.

R. A. Darwin, Dominion chairman of the Jewish National Fund offered his congratulations to Canadian Jewry for setting "such an example to Jewish communities throughout the world," in taking so seriously its responsibilities towards the Jewish National Fund.

Reports were filed by M. W. Weisgal on behalf of the Central Division, which forms part of the Ontario region; M. Heppner, vice-president, Western Division; J. Fineberg, financial report; Mrs. A. J. Freiman, president Canadian Hadassah Organization, Hadassah report; A. R. Katz, Habonim report; A. M. Klein, Young Judaea report, and reports from the credentials committee.

J. Fineberg in presenting the financial report indicated that $310,000 had been collected as follows: United Palestine Appeal, $190,706; Jewish National Fund, $46,642; Hebrussah Trust Fund, $56,458, and miscellaneous $17,191. Expenses $101,763.

The treasurer recommended that drastic measures be taken to considerably reduce existing expenses in proportion with the organization income. He also announced that $100,000 borrowed towards a million dollar purchase by Canadian Zionists in the Emek Ha'Sharm, had been paid off entirely.

Mr. Nahum Sokolow and his son, Dr. Sokolow, were the guests of the convention at a reception last week.

"Jews in Germany are facing a dangerous time and apparently are bound to suffer if the Hitlerite fascists gain power within the next month or two, according to Dr. Nahum Goldmann, editor of the modern Jewish section of the Encyclopedia Judaeica, and resident of Berlin, who came to Montreal to attend the 23rd annual convention of Canadian Zionists.

"Although Hitler has been more sensible recently, he did threaten to disfranchise us and to create a sort of state within a state for the Jews," said Dr. Goldmann in an interview.

"We were to live in Germany, according to his proposal, without a vote and with very few rights other than to pay taxes," Dr. Goldmann continued. "Hitler himself is not making these threats any more, but his lieutenants certainly are and there is already a considerable feeling of opposition to our people in Germany.

"There are 600,000 Jews in Germany," Dr. Goldmann explained, and the majority of these are tradesmen or shopkeepers, or small manufacturers. These times of depression, together with the hostility aroused against them, have already forced a number of Jews to leave the smaller villages and towns and come to the larger centres of population where the feeling is not so intense against them.

"I do not believe," he added, that Hitler will actually carry out his threat to disfranchise us. But things can be made sufficiently unpleasant for the people of my race without that. There is no doubt, for instance, that Jews will be dismissed from all positions of public office, and from all civic service posts. We can expect rank discrimination against us in everything — a doubtful and dangerous time."

"Palestine will be self supporting within ten years," declared Mrs. Peter Schweitzer of New York when interviewed. She is the largest single stock holder in the Jewish Colonial Trusts which are settling Hebrew farmers on the irrigated and developed lands of Palestine.

Mrs. Schweitzer, ardent supporter of the Zionist cause, came to Montreal in order to attend the Canadian gathering of Zionists.

"I am certain," she said, "that Palestine will be one of the richest and best developed small countries in the world. Already its oranges are favorably known in England, all through the Mediterranean countries and even in Russia. Its mineral resources too, are being developed and will add much to the wealth of the country."

Mrs. Schweitzer was in Palestine less than two years ago when she opened the large Peter Schweitzer Memorial Hospital in Tiberias.

Tells Hadassah to Learn from the British How to Weather Storm

Mrs. A. J. Freiman, of Ottawa, was re-elected president of the Dominion Hadassah convention in session in Montreal Tuesday. Other officers elected: Vice presidents: Eastern division, Mrs. Louis Fitch and Mrs. A. Hoffnitzer, of Montreal; Central Division, Mrs. A. H. Dimmett and Mrs. H. Cohenhamer, Toronto; Western Division, Mrs. M. Dash and Mrs. M. Fettelheim, Winnipeg; Treasurer, Mrs. Louis Miller, Montreal; Secretary, Mrs. M. Strathdee, Montreal.

The seventh convention of Hadassah was attended by Dr. Nahum Sokolow, of London, world Zionist president, his daughter, Dr. Hellen Sokolow, Mrs. Archibald Silverman, Providence, R. I., Dr. N. Goldman, Berlin, and Dr. Hildesheimer and Mrs. Peter Schweitzer, of New York.

The convention decided to increase its solidarity to continue its support of the Meier Convalescent Home to the extent of $1000 annually. It was decided that there was a need of concentrating on increasing the membership and the number of chapters in the Dominion and that literature of an informative nature in the form of letters, articles and pamphlets be sent twice a year to all Hadassah members.

The Hadassah organization in regard to specific Hadassah work shall be supreme. Another resolution stated that the organization will co-operate with the Canadian Zionist Federation in respect to its general Zionist activities.

A resolution in regard to the junior work called for steps to be taken to form a national body of Canadian junior Hadassah, plans to be placed before the next Hadassah convention for final ratification."

Hadassah throughout the Dominion has been able to carry on its work despite the serious difficulties of the past year, Mrs. A. J. Freiman of Ottawa, president of Dominion Hadassah, said. She recalled that at the last convention it had been hoped to raise the necessary funds for the construction of the second building at the Nahalal Agricultural School for Girls. The economic depression made it impossible to carry out plans in this connection. However, Hadassah was able to send substantial remittances, one of $14,926.70 in 1930 and $6,000 this year, a total of $20,926.70. On receiving a cable from the Notea hospital that it was in dire financial distress, a telegram was sent through the Dominion appealing for help which met with success.

The junior chapters continue to maintain the Palestine Baby Home. Contributions to the united Palestine appeal for the past term amounted to $88,087.15, and to the Jewish National Fund, $14,0[illegible].

The Canadian Hadassah organization is the leading Zionist organization in the world, in the opinion of Nahum Sokolow, president of the world organization. Hadassah work here is important, in particular because it supplements the work of the most valuable foundation movement ever have. He pleaded with the members to become responsible to the tune of $25,[illegible].

As an example of Hadassah women of character which is able to go through any crisis without losing the publicity and the trust, Dr. Sokolow held up the British people and advised the Jews to follow their example. The Englishman has proven his ability in weather any storm, and his poise in taking his ups and downs without ever complaining. It is the most important lesson the Englishman can teach the Jews.

Dr. Sokolow emphasized the value of women in the Zionist movement for without them the movement would be only half complete. In Palestine now, the women works side by side with the men, whether it be in the fields, in the schools or in the business world.

In spite of all difficulties, Dr. Sokolow added, Palestine is making progress, and will continue to do so. The foundation has been well laid, and nothing will destroy the position already achieved.

Award Degrees at Hebrew University

In the presence of Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope, High Commissioner of Palestine, and other distinguished guests, the first degrees ever to be awarded by a Jewish University were granted January 26th at the Hebrew University, Jerusalem. Thirteen students, including two girls, received the degree of Master of Arts as the first graduates of the Hebrew University, according to cabled information received by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, President of the American Friends of the Hebrew University, Inc. Of the thirteen students eleven received diplomas with high distinction and two received a rating equivalent to the magna cum laude granted in American colleges and universities. The average age of the graduating students is thirty years, Dr. Rosenbach pointed out, the oldest forty-two years of age. Most of the graduates entered the Hebrew University in 1925, the first year in which courses were opened. The majority have specialized in work in the Institute of Jewish Studies

CRANE PLUMBING FOR JEWISH HOSPITAL

Sanitation and the importance of adequate and hygienic plumbing has become of prime importance in hospital planning. This has resulted from the study of emminent physicians and surgeons in co-operation with the manufacturers of hospital equipment.

The Montreal Jewish Hospital embodies most of those developments and improvements which scientific research has recently revealed as essential in hospital methods and practice.

Proof of this is in the choice of vitreous china fixtures, which provide surfaces very easy to keep clean and hard to chip. A vitreous china fixture does not loose its usefulness and sanitary features should its surface unhappily be marred.

Again, exposed brass parts are chromium plated, providing a hard, lustrous, and durable finish, which will not tarnish; requiring a minimum of effort in cleaning.

Not the least important item essential to assured reliability in the operation of the Hospital's mechanical system is that of valves.

Crane valves, are standard throughout. Beginning at the three Power Boilers fitted with 6 inch Crane Automatic Stop check valves the extensive range of Crane valve design is given practical application in their general use throughout the whole piping network which one might truly term the "arteries" of the Hospital.

A warm cosy atmosphere on cold damp days is indeed of prime importance to the comfort of patients whether in suffering or convalescing and an important factor in the efficiency of the staff who are often performing their duties under great strain. This cosiness is radiated through this institution through Warden-King radiation supplied by Crane Limited.

Although unseen but an assurance to the owners that the best has been provided is the knowledge that Crane quality is present in the hidden fittings.

Crane Limited is indeed proud of the part it has played in the erection of an institution of such me-

COMMENTARIES

genuine world peace! For at this very hour there is going on a preparedness for war — more so even than in 1913. And if another world catastrophe is to be averted — a way to peace must be found at once. At this time individuals everywhere ought to memorize the words of that beautiful hymn of peace by James West:

"Sounding down the ages
Comes the call to Peace;
Prophets, heroes, sages
Summon war to cease.
Tirelessly we follow
In the way they led;
War no more must wallow
In its gory bed!"

"Sons and brothers call us;
Weeping mothers moan, —
"Woe may yet befall us
Worse than earth has known!"
Stay the awful sorrow
Ere the blast shall sound;
Build a fair to-morrow;
Make earth Holy Ground!"

"All our prayers and preachings
Fail us if we shirk!
God's and man's beseechings
Bid to ceaseless work.
Beauty for life's ashes
We may bring to man;
Ere War's thunder crashes
Peace for earth we plan.

"Rise, o world, to duty;
Brotherhood proclaim!
Friedliness is beauty,
War is woe and shame!
Skies with light are surging,
Peace may yet abound;
God and man are urging,
"Make earth Holy Ground!"

JEWISH HOSPITAL INSTALLS BILLOW SYSTEM FOR HEATING

The Power Plant of this Hospital contains three Horizontal Return Tubular Boilers of 125 H.P. each working at 100 lbs. per Square Inch pressure which are to be fired with Bunker "C" Fuel Oil by means of the BILLOW SYSTEM complete low pressure air to the combustion zones. This system of proportioning by means of [illegible] pressure [illegible] and fuel oil burning equipment supplied by the National Supply Company and produces the ultimate in economical operating cost, minimum upkeep and overall efficiency. The method employed is shown on the flow sheet attached to which reference is made while describing the system.

It is possible to completely burn the gases of combustion with little excess air but in practice this is not attained as the slightest variation in the mixture of air and oil would cause smoke and soot to be formed. Therefore, in order to obtain complete combustion, it is necessary to supply a certain amount of excess air which is dependent on the products of combustion. This method of firing [illegible] is slightly inferior to all [illegible] where the furnace gases [illegible] and the [illegible] work directly against [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

We use filtered rain-soft water in laundering your CLOTHES

—and that is just one reason why things washed OUR way come back cleaner and last longer!

Six hundred gallons of filtered, rain soft water is our average for each family washing. The water is changed over and over again—from nine to twelve times depending on the article.

Each fabric receives the laundering process proved best by scientific tests. Colors that are suspected of not being fast are washed separately. Silks, woolens, etc., are given special handling.

Such care as this insures longer life for your clothes and it costs surprisingly little. Call for a routeman and let him help you choose the particular service that fits your requirements and your budget.

Marriages

Laywine-Avruskin

A wedding took place at Old Spain, when Miss Mary Avruskin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Avruskin, became the bride of Herman Laywine of Toronto. Rev. Saeger officiated. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a fitted gown of white satin with an evening jacket to match. Her veil was of Brussels net and tulle with a seed pearl and net head-dress and weighted at the side with French blossoms. Her flowers were white roses and baby's breath. The bride was attended by her sister, Bess Avruskin as maid of honor, wearing eggshell satin with accessories to match. The bridesmaids were Miss Belle Lewis, gowned in eggshell satin with green accessories; Miss Lillian Lenchner, in green velvet with coral accessories; and Miss Marjorie Rodney of Hamilton, in green velvet with green accessories. They all carried bouquets of Talisman roses. The mother of the bride wore a gold lace and georgette gown with a corsage of red roses. The best man was Morris Avruskin, brother of the bride. During the signing of the register Miss Sylvia Salamansky sang "Because." After the ceremony, a reception was held at Old Spain, after which the bride and groom left for a trip to Detroit, Chicago, and Milwaukee.

DIES AT AGE OF 118

Mrs. Fannie T. Goldman, who, according to grandchildren and other relatives, was 118 years old, died of bronchial pneumonia Tuesday in her home at 882 Dumont Avenue, Brooklyn.

The centenarian died with a wish unfulfilled. To her great-grandson, Milton Goldman, who is studying aeronautics at City College, she often had confided a desire to take an airplane ride, and he had promised to give her one when he obtained his license as a pilot.

Ten children were born to Mrs. Goldman, and her husband, Jacob, and she outlived all of them. Her husband, who was a merchant, died in 1905 at the age of 86. She had thirty-five grandchildren and thirty-two great-grandchildren who live in various parts of this country and Europe. Mrs. Goldman was born in Rodamysl, Austria, early in 1814. Jacob Strobing, a 72-year-old nephew, said she was 63 years old when she and her husband came to this country in 1877, settling on the East Side.

She never wore spectacles, and her hearing was excellent until a short time before her death. Some of her hair retained its color until she was more than 90.

Mrs. Goldman was broad-minded, and was wont to smile tolerantly when aged companions narrated superstitious belief to her. Her neighbors often commented on her neatness and her insistence upon appearing personable.

Although her youngest and last surviving son, Harris, died in 1929 at the age of 73, she believed he and another of her children were still alive. Her grandchildren never informed her, fearing to injure her health.

Mrs. Goldman felt that she was able to perform many household tasks up to her last illness, but her family in recent years had insisted that she have a nurse and companion. The aged woman contracted the illness which caused her death while nursing her nurse, who became ill of the grip about two weeks ago.

EINSTEIN SAYS WORLD LACKS DEVOTION OF MEN TO COMMON WEAL

Declaring that the basis of European-American civilization is "critically shaken," Dr. Albert E. Einstein, at Pasadena, Cal., January 25 touched on what he deemed to be the causes of this condition.

"Do we not cling to international agreements, whose economic impossibility has long been known but not publicly recognized?" he asked at one point.

Dr. Einstein was a speaker at a dinner at the California Institute of Technology honoring the speaker, Dr. Charles A. Beard, historian, and Dr. Jacob Schurman, former president of Cornell University. Dr. Beard and Dr. Schurman also spoke on foreign relations.

"The basis of our European-American civilization is critically shaken," said Dr. Einstein, "and a feeling of perplexity and fear has mastered all in the face of the immediate internal forces that threaten us in our existence.

"At a time when we are rich in consumable goods and means of production as no previous generation before us, a great part of humanity suffers severe want; production and consumption falter to an increasing degree, and confidence in public institutions has sunk as never before. It is as if the circulatory system of the whole economic organism were throughout fatally ill.

"Why should the equilibrium between production and consumption not let itself be re-established by suitable measures? So asks the optimist. But the pessimist asks 'Why should not our civilization collapse through inner decay, in a manner similar to that of the Roman Empire?' Who is right?" * * *

"It is not in intelligence that we lack for the overcoming of evil, but we lack in the unselfish responsible devotion of men in the service of the common weal."

Ask any Heating Engineer About TEN/TEST

YOU MAY build your house in the summer time—but you will be living in it in winter, and for many successive winters. July or January, it's all the same to TEN/TEST.

TEN/TEST Insulating Building Board, through its exceptional resistance to outside temperatures, assures you living comfort the year round. In zero cold or midsummer heat, TEN/TEST protects the health of your family by keeping extreme weather outside your walls. In winter, TEN/TEST cuts your fuel costs, and is sound deadening to a remarkable degree.

Used under brick, stone, stucco or clapboards, TEN/TEST is more economical than wood sheathing. Extensive laboratory tests prove conclusively that it is stronger, too.

After many years of experience, the strongest supporters of TEN/TEST to-day are those who know most about building.
